Tired Old Heat Wave Gives Up Ghost

By The Associated Press

The nation's tired old heat wave, which has been pestering the north Atlantic states recently, gave up the ghost today everywhere but in a small area from New York southward.

New York and New England, sweltering in the upper 90's yesterday, had a weekend of pleasant weather in prospect as cooler air moved in and brought temperatures down to the 80's.

The weather bureau at Chicago said it was "comparatively cool" over practically all the northern half of the country from the plains states of Nebraska and the Dakotas eastward, but the cooling off process was slower south of New York and south of the Ohio river. Washington, D. C., which had a high of 96 yesterday, could expect more of the same today, with somewhat cooler temperatures tomorrow.

Already cooled off were Portland, Me., which had a high of 98 yesterday; Boston, with a high of 96; and New York City, with 95.

However, another warmup was due in the Mississippi valley region today and the warmer air was expected again to gradually work eastward.

12 KRUPP ARMS COMBINE HEADS TO FACE TRIAL

German Munitions Chiefs Indicted on Long Series of War Crimes.

By The Associated Press

NEURNBERG, Aug. 16—Twelve directors of the $2,500,000,000 Krupp munitions combine, which for 133 years has been supplying Germany with guns, were indicted by United States authorities today for war crimes.

They are scheduled to go on trial next month.

In a 50-page bill presented to an All-American court, prosecutors charged the giant steel and armament firm with waging aggressive war, plundering peaceful countries and exploiting slave labor.

Principal defendant under the indictment was Alfred Krupp von Bohlen und Halbach, son of Bertha Krupp, after whom the giant cannon "Big Bertha" which shelled Paris during World War I, was named.

To Prove Complicity

Brig. Gen. Telford Taylor, chief American prosecutor, said the U. S. would prove that Alfred Krupp and his associates were Nazi party members, confidants of the Gestapo, supporters of Adolf Hitler, instigators of rearmament and violators of the Versailles treaty.

Taylor accused Alfred Krupp of carrying on the policies of his father, Gustav, who is now senile and unable to stand trial.

At the outset of the Neurnberg war crimes trials in November, 1945, American prosecutors, backed by France and Russia, asked that Alfred Krupp be made to stand trial in place of his ailing father. The request was turned down by the international war crimes tribunal and neither was tried.

Donated 4 Million

Taylor charged that the Krupp works, under the aegis of Hitler, expanded to 175 domestic companies and foreign subsidiaries, that the Krupp staff jumped from 25,000 employes in 1932 to 112,000 in 1939. The indictment charged that Krupp donated more than $4,000,000 to Nazi coffers.

Taylor said evidence would be presented showing an intimate relationship between Krupp and the principal Nazi leaders, including Fritz Sauckel, the Nazi labor boss who was hanged at Nuernberg.

The indictment accused Krupp of spreading Nazi propaganda abroad with personal letters and pamphlets outlining the Nazi viewpoint for foreign industry's perusal.

Hope for 50 Miners Rises

3 Escape Undersea British Pit, Indicating Others May Be Found.

By The Associated Press

WHITEHAVEN, England, Aug. 16—Three dazed, bruised miners caught in an explosion which trapped 107 in an undersea coal mine stumbled out alive today after a 21-hour ordeal and raised slight hopes for 50 miners still missing below.

The national coal board announced earlier the bodies of 54 men had been located, and said it had virtually given up hope for the other 53.

Then the three blackened men emerged from the mine, bringing to 13 the total of known survivors. They told officials they were some distance away when the blast shattered the shaft of the 135-year-old mine stretching out several miles under the Firth of Solway.

Met by Rescuers

Cut off from the pithead, the men scrambled to the mine's farthest reaches to avoid deadly gas. They were met by rescuers as they made their way back, hours later.

The coal board said 117 men, rather than 121 as previously announced, were in the mine. Ten miners escaped soon after the blast.

The bodies of 54 of the victims of yesterday's tremendous blast had been found. Sixteen of them were brought to the surface from the clear end of the blasted passage, and others were discovered by rescue workers who broke through 250 yards of rock falls.

Wives Watch Silently

Wives of the miners, some crying and others too stunned for tears, watched silently, clinging to any slim hope for their men, while rescuers in oxygen masks took hours to reach the pit, two miles out under the Irish sea. Its tunnels extend four miles undersea at a depth of 800 to 2,000 feet.

Ten of the 121 men in the mine at the time of the blast escaped because they were on the side of the explosion toward the shaft leading to the surface.

The William mine normally employs 370 men, and the 117 who were in the pit yesterday were members of cleanup crews.

The blast was the fourth in British mines since the pits came under public ownership last Jan. 1. The previous three killed 26 men.

Brazilian Says Pan-American Parley "Must Insure Peace"

By The Associated Press

QUITANDINHA, BRAZIL, Aug. 16—Brazil's foreign minister told the 20-nation inter-American conference today if it failed to set up the machinery to preserve continental peace, others "less fitted to accomplish it will take our place."

Raul Fernandes, 69-year-old diplomat elected yesterday as president of the conference, opened its second plenary session with an appeal to the delegates for safeguards for the defence of individual rights, liberty, justice and well being."

The conference was called for formulation of an inter-American defense treaty. A compromise seemed in the making on the issue of the vote needed to invoke treaty sanctions against an aggressor.

Fernandes said "our work is not only possible and opportune, but also urgent, since the San Francisco (United Nations) charter gave the Pan American union the first responsibility for the preservation of continental peace."

Before the delegates assembled, Ricardo Alfaro, Panama's foreign minister, told a news conference Panama would never recognize the present government of Nicaragua, and said it was "a certainty that Mexico, Guatemala, Venezuela and Bolivia will join Panama in opposing the admission to the conference of any representative except one from the rightful Nicaraguan leader."

He said Panama considered Leonardo Argueller, deposed in a recent coup, as the rightful leader.

PRINTERS' UNION OPENS CONVENTION

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Aug. 16—With more than 200 resolutions to be studied, the International Typographical union opened its 89th convention today for a seven-day session.

ITU officials said some 3,000 delegates were expected to attend the meetings, which will get down to the main convention business on Monday.

Among the issues to be discussed are a proposal for pension increases and a report on collective bargaining under the Taft-Hartley bill.

A report on policy, authorizing ITU members to cross picket lines of allied craftsmen in the printing trade also was expected to draw considerable debate.

The union's two rival parties—the Progressives and the Independents—will caucus at the convention on nominees for next May's election.

Marion Milk Price Raised

Cent-a-Quart Hike Results from Agreement of Producers, Distributors.

The retail price of milk went up a cent a quart today in Marion as the result of an agreement reached between the four city distributors and producers in the county milk-shed.

Milk sold at 18 cents a quart today, a cent over the price that has prevailed locally since March. Cream also was hiked a cent a half pint.

The 18-cent a quart figure corresponds with that paid for milk a year ago in August and which prevailed until the drop to 17 cents last March, figures show.

The meeting between the area producers and Marion distributors was held in the Triple A office here Thursday night.

The predicted short corn crop for this year plus the prevailing high cost of other feed stocks to producers at the present time has been tabbed as a basis for the price rise which distributors say is general.

Feed Cost High

High cost of feed to the producer is reported to be shaving profits down to the point where it is costing more to produce milk than it is worth. One producer reported it cost him $300 for a 15-day supply of feed, a cost that over balanced the check for his milk.

The local market is a part of the expansive Cleveland market which draws from the northern half of the state. Dairy products distributors here must compete with Cleveland for at least a part of the area producers' output.

Meanwhile The Associated Press dispatches report that a farmer's referendum will be held in towns throughout the northern half of the state next Friday on an amended milk order for the Cleveland market, placing a floor of $4.79 a hundredweight on milk as of Sept. 1.

The order was signed by the secretary of agriculture in Washington late yesterday. The $4.79 floor will apply through December but in January it will drop to $4.35 and in February to $3.91.

UMW REPORTS RIFT IN NLRB

Says Truman Warned Board Against Bowing to Congressional Pressure.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16—The United Mine Workers Journal said today President Truman has "warned" the national labor relations board that he will not reappoint members who permit the congressional committee on labor relations to "interfere or dictate policy."

The John L. Lewis union publication described the committee, created by the Taft-Hartley act, as a "witch-hunting vigilante outfit" and declared Chairman Joseph Ball (R-Minn) has tried to persuade the NLRB not to "make a move without calling Joe."

Under the Taft-Hartley act the three-member board was expanded to five and the new post of general counsel created. The President nominated J. Copeland Gray and former Senator Abe Murdock of Utah as new board members and Robert N. Denham as general counsel.

"Death Dodgers" Billed For First Day; Races To Start Tuesday Night.

The ninety-seventh annual Marion county fair, lasting six days with a full program each afternoon and night, will open tomorrow afternoon.

With the entries for all exhibits swelled to overflowing, this year's display of Marion county agricultural products and handicraft work promises to be one of the best since the fair began in 1850.

Every night of the fair will also provide a special program in front of the grandstand. The special features are as follows:

Sunday afternoon and night: Jimmy Lynch and His Death Dodgers, performing on the race track in convertibles and motorcycles.

Monday night: The White Horse show will offer horse lovers plenty to see in the way of beautiful, well-trained white horses and Albinos.

Tuesday night: A three-event harness racing program.

Wednesday: A junior fair parade, pony races and style show in the afternoon. Another harness race program is billed for the night session.

Thursday: Two sessions of harness races will be held Thursday with three events in the afternoon and three under the lights at night. Another added feature for Thursday is the sixth district of the Ohio Jersey Cattle club show.

Friday: Another racing program is on tap for Friday afternoon and a show in front of the grandstand featuring the Duke of Paducah in a radio troupe show will highlight the closing program at night.

The county Grange organizations will take a larger part in this year's fair than ever before. All nine Grange groups will offer displays of their club work.

Five Bands To Play

Five bands among the county's organizations will help to entertain the large crowds expected. The Harding High school band will play in the bandstand Tuesday night and the Pleasant High school musicians will perform both Wednesday and Thursday afternoon. The Eagles band of Marion is scheduled to play Thursday night.

Twelve other counties in Ohio have also booked fairs for next week. However, as most of them are far remote from this section, no detraction from the Marion county exhibition is expected.

Newspapermen Try Out Train-to-Office Phone

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16—Perhaps Alexander Graham Bell wouldn't believe it, and some bosses are sure to be skeptical, but a newspaperman can do his day's business telephoning from a speeding railroad train.

Honest he can, boss.

At least, a bunch of Washington reporters did Thursday. It was at a preview of train-telephone service which the Baltimore and Ohio and Pennsylvania railroads were inaugurating Friday on some of their New York-Washington trains.

This service will allow government and business tycoons to keep in touch with up-to-the-minute doings in their offices—or perhaps at such places as Tropical Park or Santa Anita. The cost of a call is about the same as from standard, non-speeding telephone booths.

EAGLES TO SEE MOVIE

A motion picture film will be shown tonight to members of the Eagles in the downstairs social rooms. It was announced today. The film "The Rear Gunner" will be shown by Major Lee Burnham and First Sgt. Charles Boulivare, in charge of the Marion Army Recruiting station on South Main street.

A special meeting of lodge officers was held last night with Omer Williams in charge. Plans are being made for the Eagles family picnic Sept. 7 at Crystal Lake.

had been making mattresses for 7 years and continuously since

What does this mean to YOU?

Two ways of finding the answer to that question are easily available to all. One is to visit our factory and see the materials we use and watch us put them together. The other is to ask your friends and neighbors who have put them to the sleeping test for many years.

Our mail, too, from all over the U. S. A. and some foreign nations, containing orders and comments, might be a revelation.

The conclusion, as you doubtless realize, is that we know you cannot make a better mattress investment than to buy and use ours. Why not stop in or call us for your Fall Mattress needs?

*Of my dear husband, John Guy, who passed away Aug. 17, 1939.

I am sad within my memory,
Lonely is my heart today,
For the one I loved so dearly
Has forever been called away.
I think of him in silence,
No eye may see me weep,
But many silent tears are shed
When others are asleep.
Some may think that I have forgotten,
Some may think the wound is healed,
But little do they know the sorrow
That is in my heart concealed.
Oh! what would I give to touch his hand,
His happy face to see.
To hear his voice and see his smile,
It would mean so much to me.
Just when his days seemed brightest,
Just when his hopes seemed best.
God called him from amongst us
To his eternal rest.
Sadly missed, but God knows best.

Wife, Mrs. Cleo Guy
and Daughters.

Backache

The patient who suffers from pain in the lower part of the back ought to know right at the start that his doctor will probably not be able to find the cause of it without a thorough study. Backache is a symptom produced by some of different conditions, some trivial, others of the utmost gravity. Hence it cannot be relieved unless the cause is sought out and eliminated.

According to Dr. Calvin C. Torrance of Jamestown, New York, the search should begin with a complete history of the condition and go on from there to careful physical and X-ray examination. It is important to know first whether the pain starts suddenly or gradually; whether there was an accident prior to its occurrence; whether the pain passes down the leg or other parts of the body; if it is made worse by coughing or sneezing; if it is more severe in the morning or night, or on a cold, wet day. The condition of the teeth and sinuses is important, since infection in these areas often may be contributing causes for the backache.

Symptoms of tuberculosis must be looked for, since tuberculosis of the spine may produce severe back pain.

Many backaches are a result of constipation. Some, in women, are due to disturbances of the ovaries or womb. In men, prostate gland infections may be responsible. Rarely, however, is backache due to kidney disturbances.

Of course, backache may be the result of some disorder of the spine or the joints in the spine, as well as of the muscles of the back. If there has been any history of accident or injury to the spine, X-ray examination is important in making the diagnosis.

The most common backache is that which occurs at the onset of some infection with fever, such as influenza, or a cold.

A break in the bones, or dislocation is readily diagnosed from the history of the injury, and by the X-ray.

A very frequent cause is sacro-iliac sprain. The sacro-iliac joint is located between the lower part of the spine and the hip bone, and the straining or separating of the ligaments which hold this joint together will cause backache and tenderness to the back.

Treatment consists in strapping with adhesive tape, or the wearing of a supporting belt.

Remember that backache may often indicate some serious condition. It is not a disorder to be neglected, but one which requires careful study so that the cause may be determined promptly and treatment instituted.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

A Reader: My finger-nails have become thin and brittle. Could this be caused from gland trouble?

Answer: Certain glandular disturbances may be responsible for soft and brittle nails. Of course, the exact cause of this condition cannot be determined. Careful study by your doctor is advisable.

On that day they will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary and also will welcome home a son, Perry, who is flying from Guam to be here for the celebration. He has been stationed there for the past year.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller were married Aug. 22, 1897 at Creola, O. by Rev. Aaron Kirkendall. Formerly as a switchman with the Erie railroad here, Mr. Miller retired April 30, 1940 with 34 years and four months service.

Mrs. Miller is 70 years old, her husband is 72. They have one daughter, Mrs. Cleo Guy of 163 Homer street, two sons, Clarence of 302 West Columbia street and Perry stationed in Guam. The latter will represent the Island of Guam at the Legion convention to be held in New York Aug. 29 through Sept. 2. Mr. and Mrs. Miller also have two granddaughters, Patricia Ann Guy and Mrs. Donald Carder of the Homer street address and a grandson, Owen Miller of Mansfield.

$440,000 Is Available For Ohio Conservation

By International News Service

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 16 — Ohio will have a total of about $440,000 available under the federal Pitman-Robinson act for the restoration of wild life and game cover.

Conservation Commissioner H. A. (Buck) Rider was informed by federal authorities today that a supplemental grant of $50,000-$90,000 can be anticipated. The state already had received $242,000 from the Pitman-Robinson funds, which are derived from the excise tax on guns and ammunition.

The federal total of $330,000 must be matched on a one-third basis with $110,000 in state funds.

Rider said the original grant would "aid tremendously" in restoring wild life balance in Ohio where young game has been damaged extensively of late by wet spring seasons.

Rev. Arthur M. Bosler On Grange Program

The home economics committee announced a stuffed toy contest for the first meeting in September. At the next meeting, Aug. 26, a miscellaneous shower will be held for Mr. and Mrs. John Paul Lawrence, who were married recently.

Helping Italy

IN CANCELING $1,000,000,000 in war claims against Italy, we give further evidence of good faith in our European dealings. The action frees Italy of all debts to the United States, releases $60,000,000 of Italian assets held in America and gives 28 merchant vessels to Italy to replace war losses.

Contemplated in the next few months are an American-Italian trade treaty, a $100,000,000 loan, American sponsorship of Italy in the UN and American intervention to reduce the Russian reparations bill.

The action is regarded as an important step toward European recovery and it injects a new note of cordiality in our postwar dealings with Italy. It also strengthens the anti-Communist De Gasperi regime, which will not endear us with Moscow. Even now the Kremlin doubtless is seeking ulterior motives. Any action which helps stabilize an anti-Communist government cannot, in Russian eyes, be anything but an extension of fascist imperialism.

India Subdivides

AMID scenes of medieval splendor, as well as medieval squalor, India moves from under British domination and subdivides like an oversize cell. There is great jubilation and there is rioting. At some places Hindus and Moslems join arms in sign of friendship, at others they turn murderously on each other. Such are the scenes in India, ever a land of contrasts, as Hindustan and Pakistan come into being.

To the distant observer, there may be doubts that Hindustan and Pakistan ever will become orderly, self-governing states living side by side in peace. But the leaders of both nations know that survival depends on the establishment of peace. The current unrest isn't evidence that stable, autonomous governments are impossible there. It is proof of the strength of the forces that were partly responsible for the end of British rule.

It's a tremendous task the two nations face—reconciling countless border disputes, assuring fair treatment for their religious minorities. The fact that both, at their request, remain within the framework of the British commonwealth indicates they will seek British guidance in charting their courses.

No nation comes into being without storm and strife. Hindustan and Pakistan may have more than a normal share. But the point is, they're free.

Someone Should Tell Him

THE president of the Oil Workers International Union (CIO) needs to get around more. Commenting on the refusal of a candidate for mayor in Texas City to accept a $2,000 contribution from the union because it would be a "kiss of death," the president said he didn't understand why.

The reason began to be plain as long ago as 1940 and was painfully plain in the election last year. The CIO specializes in the political tactics of the totalitarians; it denies the rights traditionally accorded a loyal opposition in a representative democracy. To be specific, in the kind of politics that CIO political strategists are playing, there is no room for a difference of opinion. There is only one permissible viewpoint on any given subject—the CIO viewpoint, as dictated by that organization's political mentors, many of whom are so far committed to totalitarianism as to have no further patience with political opposition, minority rights and similar characterists of popular government.

The CIO has had so much success convincing the public it stands for intolerance in the United States that its endorsement automatically marks a candidate either as a convert to the totalitarian credo, or a sucker who doesn't understand the kind of political game the CIO is playing.

The Texas City candidate apparently understands, or perhaps he merely estimates that his chances of winning are better if CIO bestows its $2,000 kiss on two other candidates.

Expert Testimony

SENATOR FERGUSON of Michigan, who presided over the upside-down investigation of Howard Hughes that had the witness grilling the questioners, has given some expert testimony on the subject of congressional investigations in general.

The right to investigate is fundamental, he declares, but it needs to be done right. Therefore, the senate and house should combine their efforts, set up permanent investigative committee with competent staffs to prepare material and run no further risk of getting involved in the holy show business the Hughes investigation turned into.

Hughes, meanwhile, saying some of the things he never had a chance to say in Washington, wants to know why he—smallest by far of the holders of aviation contracts—was singled out for so much attention, while no one seems to be even remotely curious about aviation deals involving billions.

Hollywood's Real Tragedy

By RAYMOND MOLEY

Clash with Britain Creates Serious Problem.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 16—First, there was Cournand's stinging exhortation about money "frittered on films." Then there was Arthur's announcement of a 75-per cent duty on American pictures. Then the American industry announced a decision to export no films at all to Britain. After this swift succession of blows, a stunned Hollywood is assessing the damage and speculating on the future. There is much more certainty about the damage than about what can be done about it.

The American motion picture industry has for years been the chief supplier of pictures shown in British theaters. During 1946, 328 of 465 feature pictures shown in Britain originated in Hollywood. All through the war, the flagging spirits and weary hours of the British public were ministered to by American movies. This was costly to a nation that had little exchange to spare. But, like beer and ale, it was regarded as an essential stimulant. Again and again, the British government impounded the money of American picture companies. Again and again, the industry, through Will Hays and with the aid of the state department, released that money. Meanwhile, the British, under such leaders as J. Arthur Rank, tried to build a British film industry to keep the shillings at home. But British production this year has been estimated at only 50 feature pictures.

British Products Don't Draw

Favorable agreements were made between the British and American film industries to allow the showing of British films in this country. But somehow British films have failed to make big money in America. Outside of big cities, British films simply fail to go over with the American public. This is a simple fact which is only partially modified by vast publicity about such masterpieces as "Henry V" and "Great Expectations." In the movie business, sadly enough, masterpieces do not pay the rent and the butcher.

Another fact which bears on the present problem is the huge investment of British owners in British theaters. Millions of pounds are tied up in properties which show mostly American pictures. If American pictures are withdrawn, the theaters will be empty and the owners will be bankrupt. That is why the American industry hopes to force a decision with the British government by refusing to export any more films. The supply of unshown films over there now will carry on for six months or so. In that period, professional optimists in Hollywood hope for a lifting of the tax.

Violations Charged

Meanwhile, briefs have been filed with the state department and treasury department, charging that the British tax violates the double taxation treaty of 1945, the British-American reciprocal trade agreement and the terms of the $3,750,000,000 loan agreement. In England, reaction to the whole situation has been bitter, with some officials hoping that Attlee's government may "listen to reason" and effect a compromise.

Hollywood is seriously facing a situation which should have been recognized long ago. The motion picture industry has for a long time broken even in the American market and depended for its profits on exports, chiefly to Britain. Now it must reorganize its business so that costs can be cut. This is going to be hard, because of the labor monopoly which has gradually surrounded the industry. It is also going to be difficult because of the star system. Nobody knows better than American producers how irrational are the salaries of stars. But here the irrationality of the American public holds the producers in a vice. No matter how good a picture may be, the great public will neglect it if a Bing Crosby or two are not in the cast.

But some progress can be made by cutting the number of new pictures, reducing the labor force, eliminating glamorous sets and the like. Beyond that, the industry talks of a rise in box-office prices. It is not a joyful picture, and the tragic muse is loose in Hollywood.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

The department of justice investigation of housing will start as soon as the department finds a house.

Conspiracy is suspected in the price of materials used by $3-an-hour plasterers, $2.91-an-hour plumbers and $2.15-an-hour carpenters.

The theory is that if the price of paint could be forced down 40 cents a gallon no one ever would miss the few $2.15-an-hour pennies paid to the painter.

Look for a magnificent drive to bring down material costs and save the home builder up to $16.

I don't know that this investigation will replace the old-fashioned flying boat probe but it has almost as many interesting angles.

There is the same eager desire to grab hold of the right problem by the wrong end.

How About the 40 Million?

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

THE question still is: what happened to the $40,000,000 that the United States gave Howard Hughes and for which there has, as yet, been no return? That was a contract to perform. Has the contract been carried through? Is there any question as to whether the contract should have been let?

All the rest of what happened at that hearing in Washington is meaningless. It is a matter of no importance whether Elliott Roosevelt did or did not pick up checks at night clubs, or whether Johnny Meyer did or did not procure girls to influence military procurement officers—except as it affects the private consciences of the individuals concerned. It certainly does not matter that Senator Brewster visited Sam Pryor's house at Hobe Sound. It is usual for friends to visit each other.

It is not of the slightest relationship to the issue whether Senator Brewster prefers Pan American to T.W.A., or vice versa, or whether his personal friendship with Sam Pryor made him love Juan Trippe more and Howard Hughes less. Nor does it matter that some generals dislike Hughes. There is no law against a general liking or disliking somebody.

All this is of the nature of small gossip, interesting if true, the peephole stuff that Hollywood and the Stork club find delectable, but which, no matter how magnified, does not explain what happened to $40,000,000 of the money of the American people. When Howard Hughes threatens to leave the United States flat if his plane fails, he is silly. The United States got on before he or you or I were born. Nobody should take himself so seriously.

In all the excitement over the grand and glorious time that Johny Meyer provided for his company's prospective customers, the $40,000,000 was sidetracked. The fact is that those who were so lavishly entertained were not the customers. The customer was the United States of America, the American taxpaper who was vetoed out of a tax cut for 1947.

That customer was entertained by nobody. He was put on meat rations, butter rations, sugar rations, gas rations, shoe rations. His wife had to stand in line to get the family groceries. His son was conscripted. He bought war bonds till it hurt, contributed to the Red Cross, gave of his blood to the blood bank and paid more taxes than he ever thought possible. He was too busy and worried for night clubs.

His government spent $310,000,000,000 of his money in this war. He wants to know how that money was spent and whether the almost unbelievably huge total was all necessary expenditure. He wants to know whether there was waste or graft. He wants to know whether officers, wearing the American uniform, enriched themselves while the country was in peril.

Naturally those who are culpable will use every means at hand to prevent investigation, to ridicule the investigators, to divert attention from the main issue. Public relations counsel are always available to do jobs for clients and some of them are extremely clever—more clever in handling news, photographs, packing committee rooms and fixing page one antics than senators are. These men are worth every dollar they are paid.

But no matter what has been said or done, no matter what there has been of fumbling, of error of judgment or presentation, the question still is, what happened to $40,000,000? In fact, we ought to know what happened to $310,000,000,000.

Personalities are of no importance. Howard Hughes may be an angel in Hollywood garb; Senator Brewster may be the very devil who tempted Daniel Webster; Johnny Meyer may just be a country boy who fell in with bad city slickers and Elliott Roosevelt may be a veritable Diogenes seeking an honest man. Who really cares one way or the other?

What matters is, where is our money? Who was handing out contracts on a personal basis? Why were contracts let against the judgment of the chosen experts of the Army and Navy? Were the experts all wrong? Is everybody all wrong but Howard Hughes and Elliott Roosevelt?

Burglars Chill His Optimism

By The Associated Press

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—A wave of gasoline station burglaries had Malcolm Honeywell, local station proprietor, worried enough to make him take his cash box home for safekeeping.

When thieves got around to his station, Honeywell was pleased to report to police that they got nothing more valuable than a few cartons of oil. Then he went home and found the burglars had preceded him. They carried off the cash box containing $45.

MUNICH—Machinery has been set up to coax touring Americans to Bavaria, land of castles, snow-capped mountains and lush fields.

German and American officials are nearly set to launch the experiment, intended to sell the delights of Bavaria for the dollars the German nation eventually must have to regain a position in world trade.

An Essay on Flies

By FRANK TRIPP

IF A FELLOW wants to get a lot of people to listen to him he tries to hit a topic that concerns 'em all. The heat of summer is a tough season. Most folks don't want to major in Chaucer.

The weather gets pretty much cussed and discussed by local standards. So, I thought, what is there about August that's common to the most people?

Sucky underwear, when any, came to mind. I started one on, that but soon got into its by-product. Unable to create a bas-soon effect, like the BO boys use, I tore it up.

Right then came the inspiration. It landed on my neck. Fanny, who turns August into a hunting season, came up behind me with her trusty fly-swatter.

You could post your whole anatomy with "no hunting" signs but they would mean nothing to her. She let me have it and ejaculated her never failing triumph: "I got him!"

The only things that a pestered person would naturally write about wouldn't get printed. The editor would like to but the postal laws won't let him. Without getting technical I researched a bit about flies.

No matter what you think to the contrary the common housefly hatches to his full size and doesn't grow any larger, say the authorities. That's one thing you have to be thankful for which you probably didn't know and won't believe. He's distorted when he comes from the pupa but it takes him only 15 minutes to straighten out and be ready to make a nuisance of himself.

He is only one of about 30,000 different kinds of flies. Any of these can be killed by four hours exposure to 125 degrees Fahrenheit.

There is nothing very difficult about the universal question where do flies go in winter? They don't go—they die. Another one you won't believe, and you're partially right. A few flies sneak into warm and protected places, survive until spring to perpetuate their pesky purpose.

That's why I blurted to Fanny, as she whisked her victim off my neck, "That was just one of a legion of the posterity of a single fly that you harbored somewhere all winter. Do your big game hunting in the crevices in January and not in August on my neck."

One fly killed in the spring means millions fewer in August.

Fireflies, like birds, bats and garden snakes, are nature's fly-swatters. Fireflies' natural food is insect larvae and other insects. They should be welcome guests anywhere, even inside the home.

In Japan I found the firefly the basis of quite an industry. Firefly catchers are employed in large numbers. An expert will catch as many as 3,000 in a night. They are sold in Osaka and Kyoto to make firefly grease, which imparts rigidity to bamboo. In both Japan and China fireflies also are used in the manufacture of drugs. Shellac, you know, likewise comes from an insect. The shellac they paint with—not that we sometimes think we drink.

In reading up to get madder at flies I ran into some more entomology.

Swallows don't carry bedbugs, nor do bats, but both have their special kind of insect parasite to bother them as flies bother us. Swallows and bats got thus maligned by the old time comic song which ended, "The bedbug has no wings at all, but he gets there just the same."

The pretty white butterfly is parent of the destructive cabbage worm. Every beautiful butterfly comes from or returns to some kind of ugly worm.

Mosquitoes, even that one that seemed like an eagle when he nipped you, only live a few weeks, which is comforting.

If mosquitoes don't bother you it's because you have a smell they don't like. If you can find out which BO it is—and bottle it—your fortune's made.

92-Year-Old Teacher Is Still on Job

By The Associated Press

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn.—Miss Yula Beatty says she'll be right back on her teaching job when school begins in Coaling, Ala., next fall—her 92 years notwithstanding.

Visiting here, Miss Beatty said she would teach the Bible once more to the youngest at Coaling High School. She has taught more than 70 years.

Miss Beatty, who says she has no retirement plans, said she had found just one flaw in teaching—

"I've always wanted to teach just one grade to teach, just to see what I could do with the students. But that has never been possible for me. Even when I was principal of my school I had more than on grade."

Plastic Earthworm Made To Fool Fish

By The United Press

PORTLAND, Ore.—The only artificial fishing worm manufacturer to attend the National Association of Manufacturers' regional meeting here was Hugh Loud of Detroit.

His product, which "looks like the real McCoy," he said, "and is better than the real McCoy," has been introduced on the shelves of sporting goods stores across the country to meet the needs of fishermen who "like to go fishing, but dislike the early morning chase of angleworm hunting."

The nightcrawlers are made of red or brown plastic and are patterned after the regional breeds of the United States. They're about five inches long and are resilient and "stretchy like regular earthworms, only they're not gooey," he said.

Loud admitted that the artificial nightcrawler is a mean trick on fish. "To them, it must be like biting into a wax apple."

British Uneasy

London Times Voices Doubt Over Intentions of Labor Party.

ON Wednesday the House of Lords approved a bill giving the Attlee ministry dictatorial powers over British industry and labor. It was announced in Washington meanwhile that conversations with Britain would start next Monday on easing terms of the $3,750,000,000 loan to the British government.

The following excerpts from the lead editorial in The London Times last Saturday suggest the state of one part of British opinion at present about the present crisis. The editorial commended on the approval given the emergency legislation in the House of Commons and added wryly that the majority of the Labor party members who endorsed this "blank check" had no idea what they were doing or why. It continued, in part.

"The powers that the Government can already exercise by regulation and order over the life and livelihood of every subject are enormous. They were conferred by Parliament—with the acclamation of the country—for the purpose of national defense after the disaster of Dunkirk. With little modification they were renewed in 1945 for the new purpose of facilitating the transition from war to peace. On that occasion the Conservative party asked for their duration to be limited to two years, unless explicitly extended by Parliament, but the government insisted upon five.

"According to Mr. Morrison, the government now feel some diffidence in using these powers to the full in contending with the present crisis lest they should be disputed in the courts on the ground that this purpose is not covered by the transition to peace. That seems an exaggerated fear, if the intention is, in truth, limited to the use of extraordinary authority to extricate the country from a situation of which the war may not be the sole but is unquestionably the predominant cause. Although the intention of the cabinet may be no more than this, the language by which the bill expresses it is of a reckless generality. It is now made permissible to use the emergency powers—which still extend to the almost unlimited conscription of persons and property—for three broad economic purposes the last of which is 'generally for ensuring that the whole resources of the community are available for use, and are used, in a manner best calculated to serve the interest of the community.'

"IT IS difficult to conceive of any political or economic project, however remotely related to the urgent national need the bill is ostensibly drafted to meet, which could not be brought within the ambit of this clause. Nobody suspects Mr. Attlee, or the cabinet generally, of plotting to carry out a social revolution under cover of emergency measures of defense. The powers nevertheless are totalitarian; and the objection in principle to placing them on the statute-book is not met merely by the observation that the men who ask for them are known to be not totalitarian mind. Mr. Crossman, with his remark that the only alternative to the bill was mass unemployment, which in his conception seems to be so inseparable from the capitalist system that the terms can almost be used as synonyms, demonstrayed that there is a school of socialist thought that already looks to the bill as an instrument for achieving the revolution they advocate.

"Nothing in the debate identified the government with the views of Mr. Crossman. But the right way to dissociate themselves from the doctrine of revolution by administrative order is to conform to the wholesome tradition that those who ask for abnormal powers shall, first, define parliament exactly what they propose to do with their powers and, secondly, ask for only so much special authority as is necessary for the end in view. The government speakers evaded every attempt of the opposition to obtain a definition of their plans—tempting the inference, if the absence of a revolutionary plan is conceded, that there is no plan at all—and asked instead for plenary authority to proceed at their own will."

Auld Acquaintance

By TRUMAN TWILL

Today we renewed acquaintance with a former associate we had seen once—briefly—in the last 12 years.

"H'lo there, Phil," we cried, sticking out a glad hand. (His name was not Phil, but Fred.) "It's great to see you! When did you get to town?"

"H'lo," replied Fred. "It's nice to see you. I lived here three months. How's Susie?" (That plainly was meant to be an inquiry about his good wife, whose name isn't Susie. It offered question about being back in town.)

"She's fine," we said, still pumping the fellow's arm. "You're looking fine. Never saw you looking any better. Whatcha been doing to look so fine, whatcha been doing, huh, tell me." (Those words to that effect. We couldn't remember what he'd been doing.)

"I've been laid up in the hospital most of the time for the last year," responded Phil. Fred, that is. "I've lost 17 pounds, my blood pressure is 30 points too high and I have a blood-stream infection. Aside from that I'm as well as can be expected. How're those two fine little girls of yours?" (They are boys, not girls.)

"They're dandy," we said, skipping it. "And Ruth, how's good old Ruth? As charming and beautiful as ever, I hope. My, how I'd like to see good old Ruth." (Good old Ruth was a dumpy, drab character who acted as if she carried poison in her handbag.)

"There was a little trouble there," said good old Fred. "Ruth and I didn't hit it off so well. She's married to a fellow in Dallas now. (It came out later that good old Ruth walked out on everything but the kitchen sink.)

"Sorry to hear that, old man," was the cheery reply. "And this fine young man with you, no doubt is Donald. How're you, Donald?"

"I'm fine, sir," replied the fine young man. (He was not a fine young man, but a snotty pimply kid with an evil glint in his eye.) "My name is Martin. And how are you?"

"Oh fine, just fine," we said, feeling no pain, drunk. "Of course you remember Roger." (He hated Donald's .Martin's.. footprints.)

"Sure," lied Martin. "I remember Roger. He had two heads, didn't he? Why don't you go back into your den before someone nails your hide to the barn door? Come on, pop, this home-week gag is laying an egg. Let's get out of here before they open the season on us and we get in on a massacre."

The next time a former associate who has dropped around but once in 10 years decides to drop around he's going to get a vacant stare when he asks, he is going to be told, "Oh yes, Twill Tremen Twill, wasn't it? I've heard him speak of. He left here to go with the Brisbane Jack rabbit, a scandal sheet in Australia. A pity we missed him. He'd have loved to see you, when you are."

Four-Room Cottage That Can "Grow" into Six Rooms Shown in Plan

YOUR HOME TODAY and TOMORROW

by W. Wadsworth Wood

The present housing situation has developed two schools of thought for the prospective homeowner. He can buy property and build a small house or he can by a cooperative apartment. If he elects to be a cooperative owner, he will own a part of a large structure, pay a certain amount every month toward the maintenance of the apartment, and be relieved of all of the average homeowner's chores. He will not have to worry about the fuel situation, the taxes, assessments or general upkeep of the property, as long as it is under efficient management. With the safeguards which have been thrown around this type of operation, he should be quite secure.

On the other hand, if the homeowner is interested in any kind of individual expression in his home and his immediate surroundings, he might be better off for the same amount of obligation, to invest in a private dwelling where he could do as he pleased and improve his house to suit himself.

At the present moment, many people are trying to arrive at a decision as to whether they will own their own home or share one with others. Both sides of the question have merit, and it must be decided by the individual. The couple who are basically business people without a family, and who have varied social obligations, may well be better off in the cooperative apartment where none of their time is consumed on lawns or flower-beds or by heating or plumbing problems. The couple with definite family ideas and without too many social ambitions, may be better off in a small house.

From the financial standpoint, things are quite equal. After the initial payment on a co-operative apartment; which is about the same as that required for a one-family dwelling; the monthly charges will about equal those of the one-family dwelling. Of course you must estimate and appraise the advantages of each, and decide exactly what they are worth to you. In one case, for a regular fee, you are relieved of all responsibility. In the other case, you take responsibility and acquire individuality.

FIRST AID TO AILING HOUSE

—By ROGER C. WHITMAN—

Wallpaper "Bubbles"

Q: I live in a stove-heated flat. I have a small gas stove in the southwest corner of the living-room. I notice that the wallpaper on the north and east walls is beginning to bubble. Is this due to the stove, since it has no flue, and can anything be done to prevent this?

A: As the stove is in the southwest corner of the room, the walls on the north and east sides are cold. The vapors from the stove, therefore, condense on the paper, causing it to loosen from the moisture. Gas produces moisture when burning, and gas heaters should be connected to a vent of some kind to carry off the vapors of combustion.

OHIOAN SUES TO STOP PAYMENT TO VET GROUPS

Calls Bill Granting $322,635 To Organizations Illegal.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 16 — Brunner Dickman, a World War II veteran and Cincinnati taxpayer, sued in common pleas court today to enjoin State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson and other state officials from paying subsidies of $322,635 to 10 war veterans organizations as authorized by house bill 495.

No date was set immediately for hearing of the injunction request. Herbert D. Defenbacher, state finance director, and Don H. Ebright, state treasurer, also were named defendants.

Dickman charged the subsidies appropriated by the last legislature were unconstitutional in that they constituted expenditure of public funds for the benefit of private organizations and individuals.

Dickman said the attorney general earlier refused his demand to start legal action to block the payments.

The petition filed today named as recipients of appropriations:

Grand Army of the Republic $7,085; United Spanish War Veterans $24,000; American Legion of Ohio $107,000; 83rd Division AEF Veterans association $1,000; Ohio Veterans of Foreign Wars $73,000; Ohio Rainbow Division $5,000; 37th Division AEF Veterans association $14,800; Disabled American Veterans of World War $75,000; Department of Army and Navy Union $2,500; and Department of American Veterans of World War II $11,250.

Wallace Won't Be On '48 Ticket, Pepper Says

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16—Senator Pepper (D-Fla), predicting that President Truman will handpick the Democratic vice presidential nominee, suggested Friday that he choose "a champion of the working man."

The Florida senator told a reporter, however, he doesn't believe Henry A. Wallace and Mr. Truman could "pull together as a team." Therefore Pepper said he is not proposing Wallace for the No. 2 spot despite the former vice president's strong support of organized labor's viewpoint.

"I think Mr. Wallace can render his best service by continuing to be a private citizen who speaks his mind freely," Pepper said.

Years Catch Up with "Poor Man's Playboy"

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK—The years have caught up with "Sonny," who lived in an underground penthouse in Greenwich village and was known as "the poor man's playboy."

Hal Boyle

Time tames all gay blades, but I hate to see Sonny slowing up. He was the freest soul I ever knew.

He must have had a first name and a last name, but nobody called him anything but Sonny. He was the big city neighborhood equivalent of the town drunk — certainly not a bum. He was—if there is such a thing—a stationary hobo, anchored to alcohol.

Sonny was the symbol of man, ever-defeated and ever-triumphant. Everybody wanted to protect him because he wouldn't bother to protect himself. Everybody liked to stake him to a handout or an old shirt because it gave the giver the feeling that at least there was one guy in the neighborhood worse off than himself.

Binges Entertain Village

Sonny's binges—based on rubbing alcohol, bay rum, canned heat and sometimes even honest whisky—were Greenwich village epics 10 years ago, the themes of friendly harmless corner gossip that knit the neighborhood together.

Sonny then was well into middle-age, a slim, tobacco-chewing city hill-billy with a great gift of friendship. Our biggest worry was that he would be run over by a strange taxicab, as he had a habit of lying down in the street and falling asleep.

Despite this outdoor life Sonny was the healthiest man in the neighborhood. He never had a cold. In periods of sobriety he slept in the basement of a drug store—his "underground penthouse"—and when he clanged down the iron cellar doors at night, people said:

"Sonny's sounding curfew. Time to go to bed."

Stoked Furnaces

He stoked furnaces, painted walls with cheap calcimine, and carried out garbage when he wasn't on a spree. His clothes were always patched and nondescript, but Sonny kept himself showered and clean. Constant soap and water were the only luxuries his beaten body and mind ever knew.

Sometimes the cheap drink he drowned his dreams in set his wits to wandering, and he went to Bellevue hospital. Once a neighbor went to the hospital to get Sonny released to help him with some household chores.

The neighbor didn't agree with the doctor's diagnosis that Sonny should stay in longer.

"Don't you feel okay, Sonny," he asked.

"Sure," said Sonny, "except these shoes are pinching my feet."

The neighbor looked down and saw—Sonny was barefooted. So he stayed in a few days more.

Threw Biggest Bender

The greatest bender Sonny ever threw was the day the neighborhood druggist sent him on a delivery errand. Sonny collected a dollar from the customer, bought himself a bottle of "smoke" and boarded a bus. Back and fourth he rode, a nickel a trip, until the liquor was gone.

"I took a whole double seat to myself," he said later. "I felt like a king."

For that gesture of bourbon grandeur, Sonny will be a neighborhood hero forever.

During the war he moved away to the east side, and suddenly became an old tired man.

He still limps back sometimes to the old corner, and says defensively:

"Nobody wants me since my leg hurts so much and I can't work anymore. Anyway I don't live here. I'm just slumming."

Hughes Inquiry Called Smear of Roosevelt

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Aug. 16—The senate investigation of Howard Hughes' war contracts was a plan "to smear the memory of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt by attacking his son Elliott," says Gael Sullivan, executive director of the Democratic national committee.

Speaking Thursday night to a Duckworth Democratic club rally, Sullivan tedmed the investigation the "Brewster-Ferguson smear-and-run machines" and said it did nothing but drag the senate's dignity "in the mud."

He said that smear campaigns like that "don't just happen."

"They are part of a political program," he added. "Senator Taft and the Republican leadership must have okeyed the Brewster-Ferguson political strip-tease before it started."

Sullivan threw several verbal shafts at Taft and also leveled a general attack on the Republican-controlled congress for what he called its "bad action and inaction."

National Guard Called Necessary to Defense

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16—President Truman declared Friday that the National security demands that the United States have a fully manned, equipped and trained" National Guard ready to take the field "in time of national danger."

He made this statement in a proclamation designating Sept. 16 as National Guard day. Its observance will be part of a recruiting drive to strengthen the National Guard.

Mr. Truman asked governors to issue proclamations for the observance of the occasion, marking the seventh anniversary of the entrance of the National Guard into the national service prior to World War II.

who wished to keep a whip hand over them." It added:

"If confirmed their terms would have run for several years and they could not have been removed except for good cause, but under the Taft-Ball strategy they can easily be removed when congress meets again by a simple refusal to confirm."

Opposition was most bitter toward Murdock who was a pro-labor member of both senate and house. There was not much objection to Denham who is recorded as conservative.

"...even before the NLRB members and the new counsel took office on the temporary basis, Ball put them on the grill. His purpose was to get commitments that they would make no major policy decision without consulting his committee.

Gets Cooperation Pledge

"From Denham, Ball got a promise to confer with the committee on the 'interpretation of various questions before you take a final position.' Denham, a former trial examiner for whom the new post is a big promotion, responded, 'I should feel it would be a privilege to do so, Sir.'

"Ball tied the thing down with another query even more bluntly phrased to the effect that Denham should see him before making any important move. Denham's answer was, 'very definitely.'"

The journal went on to say that "information as to what was going on got through to President Truman, who summoned Denham and the board members to the White House and told them in no uncertain terms that they were responsible only to him for their administration of the law."

Liquor Board Revokes Put-in-Bay Permits

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 15—The state liquor board today revoked the four permits held by Christ Bulubasis and Theodor Paisios of Put-In-Bay, in whose case a ledger purportedly showing payments to officials there was introduced.

The pair, operating Jim's Place, held licenses to sell 3.2 beer, 6 per cent beer and wine, whiskey and carry-out beer and wine.

They pleaded guilty at their hearing Thursday to charges of having slot machines "in, on or about" the premises but assistant Attorney General Charles Schnur insisted on introducing in evidence the ledger and reading into the record these pencilled items: $1,500 to village of P. Bay," and "$500 to sheriff."

Sheriff Ralph Riedmaier later said he never received any money and knew nothing about the purported ledger.

Drive-in Theater Draws Capacity Opening Crowd

Despite rain which fell steadily during the latter part of the evening, the opening night showing at the Marion drive-in theater was viewed by a capacity attendance, the management reported today.

For the first showing, which began at 8, the 644-car capacity lot was full with first patrons beginning to drive in shortly after 7. Before the first run was over cars were lined up outside waiting for parking space for the second show.

The individual speakers with which the auto theater is equipped came into use last night, it was reported, as car windows were for the most part kept closed as rain fell. Each parking space is equipped with a small speaker attached to an extension cord which permits it to be placed inside the car for clearer hearing.

MILK

First indications from Cleveland milk dealers were that the retail price would remain steady for the present.

"We will ride along on the present 16-cent retail price, at least until Sept. 1," said Lynn Jennings, president of Dairymen's-Ohio Farmers, one of the city's largest distributors. "If the amended order is accepted by the farmers it may be necessary to increase the retail price at that time, but there will be no raise before.

The floor provision was requested in a hearing held here June 30 to July 3.

Polling places for the referendum will be the courthouse at Millersburg, the AAA offices in Jefferson, and the county agents' offices in Warren, Ravenna, Burton, Medina, Norfolk, Elyria, Ashland, Tiffin, Bucyrus, Wooster, Marion, Bellefontaine, Mt. Vernon and Fremont.

Approval requires favorable votes from two-thirds of the producers voting, or by producers who supplied two-thirds of the milk in the market.

50 Marion Countians Eligible To Vote

Approximately 50 of Marion county's 350 milk producers are eligible to vote in the referendum to be held in the office of County Agricultural Agent Arthur Smith in the postoffice building next Friday.

A group of producers around Prospect who ship through a collector there to the Cleveland market will be allowed to vote. Another group in the northern section of Marion county who ship milk to the Cleveland market through a collector at Attica will also have a vote on the referendum.

National Shipping Strike Within Few Days Hinted

By The Associated Press

BALTIMORE, Aug. 16 — A nationwide shipping strike probably will be called in "the next couple of days," a spokesman for an AFL maritime union told a rally of 4,000 striking CIO shipyard workers last night.

The prediction came from William Rentz, Baltimore port agent of the Seafarers International union which called a strike Tuesday night against the Isthmian Steamship Company.

Other speakers addressing the members of the International Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers of America (CIO) exhorted them to continue their 50-day-old walkout.

Rentz said "we're going to hit everything on both coasts and tie everything up. It's likely that we'll be out when the provisions of the Taft-Hartley act go into effect (Aug. 22) and we'll see what can and can't be done under this law."

Sally Rand, New Yorker Face "Conduct" Charge

By The Associated Press

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 16—Fan Dancer Sally Rand and Harry Finkelstein of New York City were arrested last night on a disorderly conduct charge signed by Finkelstein's night club actress wife.

After an appearance before City Police Magistrate William D. Conway, both were released on $500 bonds and ordered to appear for a hearing Monday.

In filing the charge, the magistrate said, Mrs. Finklestein merely complained that she had not seen her husband since he joined the Sally Rand show some time ago.

Miss Rand has been appearing at the Illinois state fair with a carnival company.

Conway quoted Mrs. Finkelstein as saying she is currently billed as Georgia Southern in a Cincinnati night club act. The magistrate added that Finkelstein told him he was Miss Rand's manager.

Crucial Brooklyn - St. Louis Series Slated for Monday

By The Associated Press

BROOKLYN and St. Louis charge toward Monday's showdown series at Ebbets field, separated by 4½ games, with the Dodgers still holding the advantage.

Out front by a fairly safe margin with a long home stand stretching ahead, Manager Burt Shotton of the Brooks is giving his pitchers their last workouts for the "series of the year."

Vic Lombardi, sure to face the Cards Monday, sparred nine rounds with the Phillies Thursday and lefty Joe Hatton, another certain starter against St. Louis, worked out on the Phillies last night.

Hatton Beats Rowe

Hatten scattered nine Phil hits in his final outing, an 8-1 victory over Schoolboy Rowe.

Manager Eddie Dyer of the Cards had to relieve Red Munger in last night's 7-4 decision over Pittsburgh just as he had to replace Murry Dickson the day before.

Despite Ralph Kiner's work, the Cards powerhoused their way to a triumph over the pirates on homers by Stan Musial, Whitey Kurowski and Del Rice.

The Dodgers also found the home run hitter they have been looking for in durable Bruce Edwards who clouted one with the bases loaded in the ninth off Rowe.

Boston's Braves handed the New York Giants their fourth straight loss, 8-7, and vaulted over them into third place, 8½ games behind Brooklyn. Walker Cooper hit his 26th homer on with two on in the seventh.

The New York Yankees romped over the Boston Red Sox, 10-6, stretching their lead to 12½ with 43 to go in the American league.

Detroit advanced to within a game of second place by drubbing Chicago, 9-2, taking advantage of two errors by Joe Haynes, a wild pitch and two singles for four runs in the seventh. Virgil Trucks recorded his ninth win.

Rookie Joe Coleman spoiled Cece Travis night at Washington, hurling the Philadelphia A's to a 3-0 victory over the Senators.

The Tribe's first run came in the second inning, when Ed Robinson beat out a bunt and advanced on a passed ball by Jake Early, then scampered home when Ken Keltner lashed out a double.

Keltner's bat also was responsible for the other tally. He singled home Manager Lou Boudreau in the sixth stanza.

Dutch Appear Headed Toward Defeat in UN

By The Associated Press

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 16—The Netherlands today appeared headed toward another major defeat in its battle to avoid United Nations action in the Indonesian dispute.

A survey of security council delegates indicated a majority was determined to keep the case in the council's hands despite vigorous Dutch protests.

Involved is a broad legal issue: Is the security council competent, under terms of the UN charter, to handle the case?

Dr. Eelco N. Van Kleffens, Netherlands representative, has argued in almost every meeting that the Indonesian republic is not a sovereign state and that the dispute, for that reason, is not an international problem.

Salvage One Tilt from 5-Game Series; Newark Here Tonight

By DON C. BURTON

Cy Lambert, Zanesville southpaw, whitewashed the Cubs at Lincoln park last night 13-0, before 2,374 loyal but disappointed fans. The total attendance for the five games soared to 11,100.

The win for the Dodgers salvaged the only game of the five-game series here and put the lead back to four games.

The Newark Browns will be here tonight for a single game and a twin bill tomorrow. The first game of the double feature Sunday will be played in the afternoon starting at 2 and the other under the lights at 8. Either Jitts Lawrence or Jim Sabens will be on the mound for the Cubs. Sabens has had a sore arm the last few days and if his flipper is ready he will get the nod.

Lambert Masters Cubs

Lambert limited the Cubs to only four safe hits, although the rain which fell in the ninth and forced the game to be called washed out a hit for Jim Forbes, when the score reverted to eight complete innings. Lambert, who won his eighteenth game of the season and the only one here, was on the verge of collapse on several occasions after putting men on base with walks, but the Cubs could never touch him when it counted. He walked eight and struckout six.

Ed Witowski who started for the Cubs was hit hard giving 10 hits in six rounds. John Pulcini tagged him for a home run with a man on base in the second round after a walk, an error and a single got the Dodgers a pair in the first frame.

New Pitcher Tried

Sully Alivojvodic made his first Marion appearance when he hit for Witowski in the sixth. Lacking control of an extra fast ball, Sully walked three and gave up three solid hits before he was relieved by John Graney with two out in the seventh. Graney allowed a triple by Ken Lien and a single for another run to make a total of seven in the inning which added insult to injury. Ray Dabek, the Bums leading hitter had a field day with four hits in five tries and had another racked up in the ninth when rain came and washed out all the ninth round. The Cubs had also completed a fast double play in the top of the ninth that was erased by the rain.

By The Associated Press

The trailer broke loose from a truck, careened onto the main street, overturned and burst into flames destroying two parked automobiles, burning down nearby trees, setting a house on fire and injuring seven volunteer firemen.

Burning gasoline was sprayed over the area as the tank burst under the pressure of two explosions.

VANDER MEER BLOWS UP TO LOSE NO. 12

Fails To Hold 5-2 Lead in 8th Inning.

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Aug. 16—They've been calling him "Hard Luck Johnny" Vander Meer, but no one could say it was hard luck that sent the Cincinnati southpaw down to his twelfth defeat last night as the Chicago Cubs edged the Redlegs 6-5.

Vandy, who has won five, had a 5-2 lead and had been breezing along with a seven-hitter when the roof fell in after two were out in the eighth.

The Cubs quickly collected three singles and a double in that frame to tie the score and that was all for Vander Meer. He left the winning run on second and his successor, Kent Peterson, permitted Emil Kush, the third Chicago pitcher of the evening, to single in the deciding marker.

The victory moved the Cubs into fifth place, a full game ahead of the Reds.

Babe Young, Redleg first sacker, was the batting star of the contest, driving in four runs with a homer and a double and scoring Cincinnati's fifth marker during a three-run third inning.

North, South Grid All-Star Teams Battle To 6-6 Tie

By FRITZ HOWELL

Ohio Associated Press Sports Editor

CANTON, O., Aug. 16—If you want a perfect example of the irresistible force meeting the immovable object, take a look at Ohio's high school All-Star footballers.

Before 24,000 fans last night on Fawcett stadium's shower-drenched gridiron, the best of the South's seniors battled the North's outstanding performers to a 6-6 deadlock in the second annual classic. A year ago, at Toledo, the Southern contingent won by 26-21.

In everything but the score the North evened the count last night, but the crew coached by Illinois' Ray Eliot couldn't quite make it. The Northerners had 18 first downs to five for the Southerns coached by Ohio State's Wesley Fesler, and outgained 'em 220 yards to 60, but they didn't have the payoff punch.

Ralph Pucci, 180-pound Canton McKinley halfback, put the North out front 6-0 in the first four minutes when he plunged over from the seven-yard line, after Sherwin Gandee of Akron Garfield, an alert end, had picked up a fumble by Carl Sturtz, Coshocton's fine back. Pucci's try for extra point was blocked, setting the stage for the tying count by the South on the first play of the second period.

Dick Boykin of Ironton, Negro southpaw kicker and right-handed passer, plunged for the Rebel counter—going two yards after Paul Miskimen of New Philadelphia had grabbed a North fumble on the 10.

Bob Walston of Columbus Linden McKinley, captain of the Southerns, lost a chance to capture the fray and give the south its second straight victory, when his try for the extra point was knocked down.

Pucci and Neil Schmidt of Bluffton were the North's top-flight ball carriers, Pucci scoring the touchdowns and seven of the 15 first downs for Eliot's forces, while Schmidt contributed more actual yardage in picking up six first downs.

Boykin, despite a broken index finger on his left hand, was the standout of the Southerners. He not only scored the deadlocking touchdown, but was a bulwark on defense as well as handling all the punting and the heavy end of the running assignments.

She escapes and tells her story to the assistant district attorney, played by Humphrey Bogart.

"Dust Be My Destiny" is the story of newlyweds who never got a break in life. Joe, played by John Garfield, is released from prison after serving a term for a crime he did not commit. Only when he meets Mabel, played by Priscilla Lane, do things look better for him. But soon, the police are after them, for an unsolved murder case.

Billed to open Friday for seven days is the drama "Deep Valley," starring Ida Lupino, Dane Clark and Wayne Morris, with Fay Bainter and Henry Hull in featured roles.

Johnson's buddy dies while fighting with him in the Union Army, and he goes to the latter's Rebel family in Missouri and makes his home there. The conflict ensues when the father of the dead soldier discovers Johnson has fought on the Union side. He is ordered out of the house, and the excitement begins when the daughter attempts to run away with Johnson.

Added attractions will include a Tom and Jerry color cartoon, "Henpecked Hoboes," a Pete Smith short, "Sure Cures," and the latest news.

Billed to be shown Thursday through Saturday is a double feature, "Cynthia" and "I Cover Big Town." Also included will be the latest news.

Starring players in the picture "Cynthia" are Elizabeth Taylor, George Murphy, Mary Astor and Jimmy Lydon. The joys and tears of a typical American family and the first romance of a teenage daughter are told humorously in the picture.

"I Cover Big Town," the second film in a series based on the famous "Big Town" radio show, co-stars Philip Reed, Hillary Brooke and Robert Lowery. Reed again portrays Steve Wilson, the editor of the Illustrated Press, Hillary Brooke is Lorelei Kilbourne, while Robert Lowery, as Pete Ryan, is an ace newshawk for a rival paper.

Kaiser Demands Inquiry Into "Steel Monopoly"

By The Associated Press

OAKLAND, Calif., Aug. 16—Henry J. Kaiser called Friday for a senate committee investigation of reconstruction finance corporation action in — as he put it — "handing U. S. Steel a $160,000,000 subsidy."

The west coast industrialist, denied an $85,000,000 write-off on an RFC loan for his Fontana, Calif., steel plant, announced he had telegraphed Senators Ferguson (R-Mich) and Brewster (R-Me) demanding an inquiry into what he termed the "steel monopoly."

"The Yearling" On Marion Bill

Film Version of Prize-Winning Novel on Double Feature Program.

"The Yearling," outstanding picture of the year adapted from the prize-winning novel by Marjorie Kinnan Rawlings, will be the top attraction of the double feature Sunday through Tuesday at the Marion theater.

With Gergory Peck, Jane Wyman and Claude Jarman Jr. in the starring roles, the technicolor picture tells the story of a courageous, hard-working family who encounter both happiness and tragedy in their struggle to eke out a living from their small plot in Florida's dense country.

Completing the double billing will be "Big Town," the exciting adventure drama of a newspaper's crusade against vice and crime. Starred are Philip Reed and Hillary Brooke as Steve Wilson and Lorelei Kilbourne, and Robert Lowery as Pete Ryan, ace reporter and admirer of Lorelei.

Wednesday and Thursday the attractions will be the re-released picture, "You Can't Cheat An Honest Man," starring W. C. Fields, and Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy, and "I Stole a Million" with George Raft and Claire Trevor.

"Springtime in the Sierras", with Roy Rogers and Andy Devine, and "The Trespasser," with Dale Evans and Warren Douglas, will be shown Friday and Saturday.

The former, photographed in color, tells how Roy Rogers, with blazing guns, corrals a gang of cattle rustlers who have a hideaway in the high Sierras. "The Trespasser" has Dale Evans turning detective to save a framed man from being executed for a crime he didn't commit.

MINE BUREAU TELLS OF NEW SAFETY CAGE

By The United Press

WASHINGTON — An elevator-cage which is safer and faster to run than those now in use has been operated without injury in a Pennsylvania coal mine during the past year, the Bureau of Mines reported.

The model cage was placed in operation at the shaft of the Heisley Coal Company of Avoca, Luzerne County, Pa., more than a year ago.

Constructed like an elevator, the cage is electrically operated, with automatic and emergency stop switches, self-locking doors, electric lights and telephone communication. It stops automatically at each landing and cannot be moved while the shaft doors are open. It is partially constructed of steel and is entirely enclosed while operating, so that workmen cannot fall out.

Despite these unusual safety features, it is cheaper to install the cage than other types, costs less to run and requires only one attendant according to the Bureau.

The government is interested in the experimental model safety cage because many miners have been killed in shaft accidents.

During the five-year period 1936-40, before the war made it impossible for mines to keep equipment in top condition, ten miners were killed and more than 1,000 injured, on the average from coal mishaps annually.

Caution Is Preached To Workers on Farms

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — Danger lurks everywhere on the farm—from the feed lot to the corn rows to the country play yard.

Duke Regnier, rural recreation specialist of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, offers some tips on safety in connection with Farm Safety week.

Take the Sunday ball game, for instance.

"Remember," says Regnier, "you may not have played ball since last summer. Take it easy. Play five innings instead of nine the first time out. Check over the field, too. Weeds may be hiding trash and rocks for you to trip and twist an ankle over.

"There is plenty of farm work to be done," the recreation specialist says. "An arm thrown out, a twisted knee, or a dislocated shoulder may lay you up for the summer. And workers are still hard to get."

The university keeps a chart of farm accidents in the state.

In June there were 94 accidents in which 107 persons were hurt and 11 killed. A total of 1,380 man days of labor was lost.

Hart Says Americans Lack Intellectual Depth

By The United Press

DOYLESTOWN, Pa.—American intellectual immaturity, reflected in forms of entertainment which are popular, is responsible for our lack of success in political life, according to Playwright Moss Hart.

"Because of our immaturity," Hart points out, "we become indifferent and allow many movements to get underway in our country which are contrary to our democratic way of life."

The type of movie, radio program, play or novel which interests the average American is the best indication of our lack of intellectual growth, Hart asserts.

Three-fourths of California is rolling hills and mountains which are rich in mineral resources, forest lands, and live stock grazing.

SCHOOLROOM COLOR BOON TO STUDENTS

By The United Press

CHICAGO—It is the color of the schoolroom that puts the student in the mood for studying.

That is what O. H. Breidert, Chicago architect, told the delegates of the 16th annual conference of administrative officers of public and private schools meeting at the University of Chicago.

For example says Breidert, in the boys' athletic dressing room, where the boys lounge and relax, a soft, restful blue should be used. In the room where the "red hot" pep talks take place, the walls should be painted a dashing red color.

A typical elementary classroom should have a landscape-type center window with two side windows. The entrance to the room should have a glass paneled door with glass side lights. The use of landscape windows brings the outdoors into the classroom with its light greens, yellows and blues.

Adequate lighting is another important factor. Adequate natural lighting should be obtained by use of large window areas, according to the architect. This may be obtained by long strip windows or vision panels, extending from the sill to a height not to exceed six-and-a-half feet above the floor. Above this height directional glass block extending to the ceiling should be installed.

As for artificial illumination, Mr. Breidert recommended fluorescent, low glare fixtures either suspended from or attached to the ceiling.

Insect Perfect Model For Plane Technique

By International News Service

WICHITA, Kans. — The lowly insect won the praise of consulting research engineer William B. Stout in an address before the Society of Automotive Engineers, Personal Aircraft Division.

Stout, a resident of Detroit, illustrated his remarks with pictures and experimental insect wing models.

He pointed out that the airplane is man's creation for taking to the air. Plans are not duplicated anywhere in nature Stout said.

So far, man has been unable to create an "ornithopter," a device which would enable him to fly like a bird. Even if such a craft had been invented it still wouldn't be perfect, Stout asserted. He explained:

"Birds are not very good fliers. You never saw one land upside down on the ceiling!"

And that's where Stout plugged the insect as a "flying fool," by adding:

"Insects fly successfuly with pay loads on wings of very much smaller proportion than birds—and make higher speeds proportionately and with more maneuverability."

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

I THINK if Mary had thrown an explosive directly into her father-in-law's lap and mine, we could not have felt more upset than we did at her question.

For I knew, and so, I was sure, did he, that her query did not mean a possible recurring illness which might interfere with the five-year Broadway run he had predicted for my play and her starring role in it.

What she meant was the possibility, rather the certainty, of her having a child, perhaps two, in the course of those five years.

I hoped I did not show my confusion, for I wanted Mary to know my inner feeling of joy that she wished motherhood. I was upset only because I was afraid she might become so confused between her father-in-law's ideas and her own that both her starring role and her projected role of motherhood, which she had not breathed as yet, even to me, might suffer.

"Just put that supposition out of your head," I said crisply, not caring, in this emergency, whether or not I interrupted the great theatrical producer, master of both Mary's artistic fate and mine.

"There is no possible danger, Dr. Twitchell has assured us," I went on, "that your nervousness will return—"

"What nice words you use, Auntie Madge, for sooch ugly tings!" Mary flashingly interrupted, and I shook my head at her reprovingly.

Physical Health Good

"And your physical health," I said, "according to Dr. Twitchell, is surprisingly good. If you take care of yourself for the next two or three days, following his directions implicity, you will be on your own again."

"Mit no leedle bars on vindows?" she inquired, shooting a veiled, mischievous glance at me from beneath her half-lowered eyelashes.

"The bars have nothing to do with you, with me, or even with your father-in-law, by whose permission they were put on," I replied evenly. "They will be removed when my father thinks the necessity for them is removed, not before. Am I not right, Phil?"

I drew him back into the conversation purposely. He had been ignored too long, and I knew his fondness for being the "corpse at the funeral, the bride at the wedding," wherever he might be.

Eyebrows Relaxed

His heavy black eyesbrows, which had been drawn into a frown, relaxed a bit at my question.

"Oh, yes! Definitely," he said, and Mary gave me a little Gallic shrug.

"Okay, okay," she said, "but I think I'll get me a 'chisel and file in my flat,' allee samee that 'wicked old widow of Venice!'"

There was impishness in her beautiful eyes as they looked at me. I guessed that she meant me to catch the "double entendre" which her apparently aimless chatter contained, and was furious at myself because I could not keep down the crimson which suddenly stained my cheeks.

But if her father-in-law caught it, he gave no sign, and answered her next query, put to him, with his usual courteous suavity.

The Premiere

"Dad," she said, "you say you predict a five years' run for this play. When do you want the premiere?"

He considered a full minute, looking from me to her, while I felt like the imperiled heroine of a soap opera, clinging to the face of a cliff while the tide rose below.

"I know what swift work both you and Madge can do if you set yourselves to it," he said. "I want to begin casting in two weeks—with your approval, Madge, of course."

"You mean," I said, dismayed, "that you wish me to finish the play in two weeks?"

In Six Weeks

"No," he said smiling, "I am not that inexorable. But I trust you will have it sufficiently under way, so that you can know the type of actor you wish for each role. I would like the play finished, and rehearsals begun in six weeks from now. I shall wish to put the play in production in four months, at the latest."

His eyes were watching me, waiting for the prompt answer he patently expected.

But mine were covertly studying Mary, and when I saw a little shudder ripple over her, I decided to delay my answer to Phil's latest query until I should find out what was troubling her.

"I can outline the type of actors needed in two weeks," I told him. "But I cannot promise, now, to have the play finished in six weeks."

GRETA GARBO GETS WISH

London Paper Prints News of Arrival in Tiniest Type.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Aug. 16—London's Daily Express couldn't go all the way, but it did make a concession today to Greta Garbo's wish to be alone.

"This is the smallest type we've got," the mass circulation daily announced, printing a seven-line skeletonized account of her first day's visit in London in tiny (agate) type.
